NANCY STAIR

By ELINOR MACARTNEY LANE

LONDON SAYS:

"Amid the welter of machine-made fiction of the present day, it is a pure delight to happen upon a story which can be heartily and sincerely commended with no critical qualifications and reservations whatsoever, with no unspoken thought in the reviewer's mind that he could have done it so much better himself. Such a black swan among novels is 'Nancy Stair,' a story of which the extraordinary charm is due chiefly to the intense natural human feeling which colors it and makes it live. Nancy Stair herself draws indescribably at the reader's heartstrings."

—The Academy and Literature, London.

NEW YORK SAYS:

"A beguiling heroine is Nancy, sweet, accomplished, brought up among men to be independent and courageous, she finds her true strength in woman's weakness."—New York Tribune.

CHICAGO SAYS:

"'Nancy Stair' is certainly one of the best novels of the season. It is original in theme and treatment, dramatic in plot, delightful in style, and satisfactory in denouement. It grasps one's interest from the start, and holds it with increasing intensity till the last page."—Chicago Record-Herald.

ST. LOUIS SAYS:

"The literary quality is good. But the historical features and the love romance are better."—St. Louis Star.

D. APPLETON & COMPANY 3 Publishers 3 NEW YORK

“Is it true? Has the plain citizen's vote really no significance? Is it all arranged beforehand, so that it really makes no difference to the country's great financial interests which party comes into power?

“Mr. Phillips says so in this story, ‘The Plum Tree,’ which is certainly worth reading as fiction, without regard to its real or imaginary significance, on account of the astuteness of its political hero, the amazing vastness of his plots, the ingenuity of his manipulations, and the clearness with which all this is handled by the author.”—N. Y. Mail.

By Edward Uffington Valentine

Comments from the Trade and Press of Baltimore, the Author's Home

"A splendid novel for a young man to write; a splendid novel for anyone to write."

—The Eichelberger Book Company.

"'Hecla Sandwith' has great literary value and is an exceedingly interesting love story."

—Nunn & Company.

"A good story, well written, with accurate character study and perfect local color."

—Hochschild, Kohn & Company.

"A well written romance of the quiet, homely life among the Quakers of Penn."

—Baltimore American.

"Mr. Valentine has made a distinctly worthy and original contribution to American fiction."

—Baltimore News.

"Full of human interest and work, in which are well handled some of life's most vital problems, clothed in language delicate and at the same time virile."

—Baltimore Sun.

James Lane Allen in a critical article on American Fiction in N. Y. Times says: One particular American novel by a new writer (Mr. E. U. Valentine's "Hecla Sandwith,") contains "pages any novelist living or dead might have been glad to claim."

GENERAL · CHARLES · KING THE MEDAL OF HONOR

A Story of Peace and War
By General CHARLES KING

A story of the romance, the intrigue and the danger of soldier life told by one who has had unusual opportunities to secure the most complete inside knowledge of army doings and army ways.

It is a tale of spirited human interest; the characters are real men and women. A charming love story.

General King possesses the dramatic instinct.

Six full-page illustrations (three by Gibbs and three by Deming), 348 pages, 12mo, bound in dark green cloth, gold lettering, with facsimile in colors of a Medal of Honor on the front cover. Pronounced the most attractively bound book of the year.

Price, $1.25

NOTES IN SEASON.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & CO. have just brought out in book form the series of articles printed last year in the Boston Transcript, from which we quoted largely at the time. The volume should interest all engaged in the various branches of bookmaking, bookselling and authorship, as well as every one who cares for books.

G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY have just ready "Me and Lawson," by Richard Webb, with illustrations by W. W. Denslow. The story is a humorous skit on "frenzied finance," the hero of which is a Western Union messenger boy who is engaged to run wireless errands in the interests of "Amalgamated Gas," "Scrambled Oil" and "Frenzied Copper."

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & CO. are bringing out "The Beautiful Lady," a new book by Booth Tarkington, a novelette of young love, with scenes in Paris, Venice and Rome, written with a daintiness and charm that suggests the author's successful "Monsieur Beaucaire;" a third edition of Stewart Edward White's "The Claim Jumpers;" and a large second edition of Norman Duncan's "The Way of the Sea," that powerful tale of the Labrador coast.

DODD, MEAD & CO. have just ready "The Purple Parasol," the new love story by George Barr McCutcheon, author of "Graustark," etc., illustrated by Harrison Fisher and Charles B. Falls, the first edition of which was sold out before publication; also, the fourth volume of the "Original Journals of the Lewis and Clark Expedition." They will publish next week "My Automobile," a record for owners of motor cars, with blank pages for records of runs, notes about machine, etc., maps of routes, and other data, in a handy size, made to put into one's pocket. They will soon publish "Lyrics of Sunshine and Shadow," a new volume of poems by Paul Laurence Dunbar, many of which are in negro dialect, and are as good work as Mr. Dunbar has ever done.

A. C. MCCLURG & CO. have now issued the eagerly-expected volumes "Theodore Thomas: A Musical Autobiography," edited by George P. Upton, who also gives a personal recollection and a detailed account of the hard personal work of the man who toiled so fearlessly and persistently to make Americans understand and appreciate good music and to bring within their reach the best the world could afford. The first volume is devoted to the "Life," the second to the "Thomas Concert Programmes," which are a great legacy to all musical conductors. They have also just ready "The Flower of Destiny," an episode of the Second Empire by William Dana Orcutt; "From the West to the West," by Abigail S. Duniway, a novel of emigration across the plains to Oregon; and "Letters From an Oregon Ranch," with photographs of remarkable beauty.

DANA ESTES & COMPANY will publish immediately, in conjunction with Archibald Constable, of London, the first English translation of "Jörn Uhl," by Gustave Frenssen, a novel which has sold over 200,000 copies in Germany. The publication of this book in 1902 took Germany by storm, and Frenssen's sudden rise to fame has been compared with that of Dickens in the England of two generations ago. The author's earlier novels, which had met with moderate success, sprang at once into wide popularity, and the humble Lutheran parsonage of Pastor Frenssen, in Holstein, became a shrine for literary pilgrims. The novel is a wonderful interpretation of modern German life, though the author's books have aroused such hostility among the Orthodox Church party that he has felt obliged to abandon his pastorate and now devotes his time solely to literature.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

EThe prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk **, and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price. W

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Adams, Andy. The outlet; il. by E. Boyd Smith. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1905. [Ap.] c. 10+370 p. D. cl., **$1.50.

In his former books "The log of the cow-boy" and "A Texas matchmaker" the hero, Tom Quirk, told the story of cattle on the drive and on the range, and he here relates his experiences in finding a market for a herd. At the close of the Civil War the need for a market for the surplus cattle of Texas was as urgent as it was general. Texas did not mature the cattle into marketable form, but after they had been driven north and double-wintered they became very valuable. The part the railroads played in solving the problem what to do with the immense herds of Texas cattle in the early 70's is vividly brought out.

Atkinson, G. Francis. A college text-book of botany: being an enlargement of the author's "Elementary botany." N. Y., H. Holt & Co., 1905. c. 16+737 p. il. D. cl., **$2 net.

"The present book is the result of a revision and elaboration of the author's "Elementary botany," N. Y., 1898. The general plan of the parts on physiology and general morphology remains unchanged. A number of the chapters in the physiological part are practically untouched, while others are thoroughly revised and considerable new matter is added, especially on the subjects of nutrition and digestion. The principal chapters on general morphology are unchanged or only slightly modified, the greatest change being in a revision of the subject of the morphology of fertilization in the gymnosperms and angiosperms in order to bring this subject abreast of the discoveries of the past few years."—Preface.

Autenreith, Wilhelm. The detection of poisons and strong drugs; including the quantitative estimation of medicinal principles in certain crude materials; from the 3d enl. German ed. by W. H. Warren. Phil., P. Blakiston's Son & Co., 1905. il. 12°, cl., **$1.50 net.

Barnes, Carl Lewis. Atlas of the arterial and venous system; containing also a practical and comprehensive treatise on modern embalming, together with a description of operations upon the arteries and veins. [South Bend, Ind., Press of the Tribune Printing Co., 1905.] c. 263+3 p. il. F. hf. rus. and mor., $20.

Battine, Cecil. The crisis of the Confederacy: a history of Gettysburg and the Wilderness. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1905. 13+424 p. 1 il. maps, O. cl., $5.

The writer is an English officer—"Captain 15th the King's Hussar's." His preface says: "It is with the hope of increasing, if ever so little, the interest in military history which recent great events have awakened, and of adding a concise account of the most critical phase of the great Civil War to the literature which already exists, that the author has ventured to offer his book to the public. Though far from professing to be a complete history of the downfall of the military power of the Southern States, it aims at placing before the reader in manageable form an account of the principal events which brought it about."

Bennett, Sir W. Recurrent effusion into the knee-joint after injury; with especial reference to internal derangement commonly called slipped cartilage: an analysis of 750 cases: a clinical lecture delivered at St. George's hospital; reprinted after revision from The Lancet. "The Club of Queer Trades" was a society made up exclusively of people who had invented some new and curious way of making money. The most entertaining ingenuity is shown in devising new methods of earning a living in the six stories that make up the book. Their names are: The tremendous adventures of Major Brown; The painful fall of a great reputation; The awful reason of the vicar's visit; The singular speculation of the house-agent; The noticeable conduct of Professor Chadd; The eccentric seclusion of the old lady.

She was a young girl living a peaceful life in central Pennsylvania and almost betrothed to a lifelong friend when, at the beginning of the Civil War, a young Southerner from Maryland came on a visit to her village. He won her heart and she loved him even when he confessed he was married. The story tells of the earnest self-sacrificing friendship of her childhood's friend by whom she was saved from her own heart and protected through many dangers. In the dreadful battle-summer of 1862 occurs the climax of the plot.

Clark, Susie C. John McCullough as man, actor and spirit. Bost., Murray & Emery Co., 1905. c. 4-359 p. por. D. cl., $1.50.

This is a record of Miss Durham's sixth visit to the Balkan Peninsula. Her work opens with a historical survey of the causes of the present state of affairs in the Balkan, gives an interesting account of her work as relief agent for the Balkan Committee, and finally describes "Albania and the Albanians," the root of all the Balkan difficulties. She endeavors to look at the situation from the point of view of each nationality in turn, and displays a keen sense of humor.

Eliot, Sir C: The East African Protectorate. London, E: Arnold. [N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co.,] 1905. 12+334 p. il. maps, O. cl., $5.

"In the following pages I have endeavored to give some account of the British East Africa Protectorate, that is, roughly speaking, our territories between Lake Victoria and the Indian Ocean, whose value is only now beginning to be understood. While omitting no aspect of the country which seemed likely to prove interesting, my special object has been to point out the opportunity which it offers for European colonization and the interesting effect which such a colony may have on the future development of Africa. After a brief historical retrospect, I have devoted three chapters to an account of the physical features of the country. . . . —Author's Preface. Sir Charles Eliot is the author of "Turkey in Europe," and has been, until his recent resignation, for nearly four years His Majesty's Commissioner for the British East Africa Protectorate.

Grant, Rob. The orchid; il. by Alonzo Kimball. N. Y., Scribner, 1905. [Ap.] c. 3+229 p. D. cl., +$1.25.

A typical member of the "smart set" is presented in the person of Miss Lydia Arnold, a highly cultured American girl, and apparently an entirely heartless one. The events leading up to her marriage with the wealthy Herbert Maxwell, her trip abroad, the birth of her little girl and later her love for another man, whom she is finally, after a divorce, enabled to marry by money obtained from Herbert Maxwell in exchange for the custody of the child, form an unflattering picture of American fashionable life, of which Mr. Grant has made many studies.

The events of this story are all brought about by the boast of a middle-aged spinster, who believes woman is the equal if not the superior of man. She tells her brother, a country gentleman and master of the Cranston hounds, that she could easily do his work, and not make half the fuss he does about it. Shortly afterward he is killed while hunting, and an extraordinary will is found, leaving Miss Badsworth his estate, if she personally keeps up the hunting for a month each year. The episodes that spring from this will are most amusing, showing not only Miss Badsworth's incompetency in the direction it indicates, but many other complications.

Beginning with the old legends, the story of the Irish nation is traced throughout its picturesque course down to the present day. The pillaging of the Danes, the coming of the Normans, the oppression of Elizabeth, the cruelty of the Cromwellian incursions, and the invasion of William of Orange are carefully and fairly described. The recent Irish problems, such as Irish church disestablishment, Catholic Emancipation, Land Purchase, Home Rule, etc., are fully treated.

Locke, W. J. The morals of Marcus Ordeyne: a novel. N. Y., J. Lane, 1905. [Ap12.] c. 303 p. D. cl., *$1.50.

Sir Marcus Ordeyne, a reserved, middle-aged, bockish man, has suddenly thrust upon him the guardianship of Carlotta, a young girl from Aleppo. Although the child of English parents Carlotta has been brought up in a harem, and is a thorough Orientalist in thought and education. Sir Marcus establishes Carlotta in his home under the care of his housekeeper, utterly regardless of the conventional aspect of the conditions. Although a bachelor, Ordeyne has other ties, which bring about a network of emotional situations, which are not wanting in humor or pathos.

When the special subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Territories visited Alaska in the summer of 1903 for the purpose of gathering information which would enable them to legislate wisely and helpfully with regard to that great district, the author was fortunate enough to obtain permission to accompany the senatorial party in an unofficial capacity. The trip occupied about ten weeks and carried the party through the interior along the whole course of the Yukon River, and to many places on the coast and among the islands not readily accessible by the regular means of travel. It will be seen he had exceptional opportunities for gathering facts and information regarding the country, its history, its resources, etc.

Norris, W: E: Barham of Beltana. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1905. c. '04. 4+334 p. D. cl., +$1.50.

Richard Barham of Beltana, rich beyond "the dreams of avarice," is a native of Tasmania and an imperious, self-made man, born to rule. His father was known to be a convicted felon, but believed by his son and others to be an innocent man and as having been made the scapegoat of the son of a worthless scion of an aristocratic house. This taint has clung to the family always, particularly affecting the fortunes of the son and daughter. A visit to England by Mr. Barham and his children has startling results. The story of the grandfather unexpectedly revived seems to be an insuperable bar in the love affairs of the children. The denouement is cleverly worked out, and all ends well.

"O," (pseud.) The yellow war. N. Y., McClure, Phillips & Co., 1905. 7+302 p. il. D. cl., **$1.20 net.

Sketches which deal with the human or personal side of the Russo-Japanese War. A little drama is played in each sketch, in a most pathetic manner. Some of the titles are: The blocking of Port Arthur; A glimpse at the Bayan; The race for Pingyang; River-fighting; The sacrifice of O' Teru San; The forlorn hope at Kiuchan; A visit to Togo's rendezvous; The affair of the bridge-guard, etc.

A companion volume to the "Trees and shrubs of Prospect Park." Identification is effected by locating representative types clearly and sharply on the maps and then the descriptive text points out the salient features of each tree and shrub to make this identification sure. Each of the sixteen excellent maps is followed by a list of the common and the foreign names of the plants it shows. A very useful list of books is given in which the rambler can follow up the knowledge gained if his object is botanical study of wider reach. Especially needed by the non-technical city nature lover.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

APRIL 15, 1905.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE ORDERLY ARRANGEMENT OF STOCK.

EVEN in the busiest times stock should not be thrown around "any old way." It may look as though the bookseller had been exceedingly busy if his stock looks disorderly, but in nine cases out of ten such disorder will be likely to make a bad impression on a new customer—a very dangerous mistake.

There is an old saying that "to be successful you must look successful." That saying may also be applied to the looks of the store. If the store gives outward evidence of orderly management, the self-confident air of the proprietor will inspire others the sooner with a belief in his ability and his success. The man who is habitually orderly will show it in everything belonging to him—in his every step, every movement and every look. It is an easy matter to pick out the failures. They are forever looking for the thing they know they have but cannot find, owing to lack of system and order and the inability of insisting upon tidiness in others. They are bound to wear out the good nature and patience of even their most indulgent customers, and sooner or later these customers will be forced to patronize the shops where more prompt and better service is given.

Orderliness carries with it positiveness, and the positive man, other things being equal, is bound to be a success, while the negative man is apt to lack confidence in himself and to become shiftless. To be successful it is imperative that a man cultivate order in his business, to be clean inside and out, and to concentrate his faculties and good qualities. A man's store is likely to be the mirror of his character. If that be orderly and prosperous-looking it will therefore reflect creditably upon its owner, and with vigilance and application his reward will come in time.

THE point of the Macy decision is simply this: The court has held that the American Publishers' Association could not maintain its position as regards non-copyright books, and that the Macy's might be entitled to an injunction as to the protection of such non-copyright books. The American Publishers' Association therefore amended their pleadings, in accordance with the action of the Association to confine the restriction to copyright books. Counsel for the Macy firm demurred that the complaint could not be so amended, and it is this demur which has now been overruled. The decision is to that extent a victory for the American Publishers' Association. The case is now to be tried on its merits, but the chances of success on the part of the Macy house as regards copyright books are so small that it may never come to trial.

THE latest example of questionable book-selling seems to be one hailing from Washington, D. C., whence a circular has been sent out headed Department C. "Authentic Records," Washington, D. C., in which E. B. Barr, signing himself Chief Clerk, sends out a printed circular saying, "I am directed by the Secretary to inform you that upon application there will be sent a complete facsimile of one of the most important state papers of the past century—the Treaty of Peace between the United States and Spain, ending Spanish dominion in America," accompanied by a postcard reading "Application is made, etc." Accompanying this is a separate sheet giving quotations from newspapers commendatory of an unnamed work. The whole thing looks like a suggestion to the recipient that he is to receive something from a department of the United States Government, although it is evidently only a preliminary skirmish toward the attack of the subscription agent. It is quite possible that this is handled so as to be out of reach of the Post Office Department or of the Government otherwise, but a word of caution seems entirely in order.

MACY'S LOSE A POINT.

THE Appellate Division of the Supreme Court on the 6th inst. handed down a decision in the suit of Isidor Straus, (Macy's,) against the American Publishers' Association, affirming the interlocutory judgment appealed from, with leave to the plaintiff to withdraw the demurrer on payment of costs.

The action was one of a series of preliminary skirmishes in the suit brought by the Macy firm to perpetually enjoin the American Publishers' Association from acting under or enforcing its rules to protect the prices of their books. As our readers are aware, the Association demurred to the complaint and was sustained at Special Term; but on appeal the judgment sustaining the demurrer was reversed and upon appeal to the Court of Appeals the reversal was sustained. The Association then interposed an answer which alleged several affirmative defenses. To two of these affirmative defenses the Macy firm demurred. The demurrer to one was overruled and the other sustained. From the interlocutory judgment overruling the demurrer to permit the Association to amend its answer, etc., this appeal was made, with the result as noted above. The case is now to be tried on its merits.

TABARD INN CONCERN SOLD TO LIT.

THE receivers of the Tabard Inn Food Company, the Tabard Inn Drugs Specialty Company and the Tabard Inn Shops and Studios have sold the entire stocks of these concerns, including many thousand books from the Philadelphia Book Store Company, to Lit Brothers, the large department store proprietors, who are advertising the goods at slaughter prices.

FREAK SUPPLEMENTS BARRED.

THIRD Assistant Postmaster General Madden on the 11th inst. issued a circular letter to all postmasters, in which he says:

"It has been brought to the attention of the department in a number of cases that publishers of newspapers are presenting their publications for mailing with so-called supplements which are manifestly illegal. These alleged supplements consist of calendars, sheet music, patterns, blocks of post cards, series of cut-out animal pictures, animal masks, plastographs, cut-out dolls, soldiers and naval vessels, circulars, hand bills, special detached advertisements, cardboard spectacles, sheets containing disks of soluble paint to be used in coloring outline drawings, etc.

"The privilege accorded to a publisher to mail his newspaper at the subsidized second-class rates carries with it no right to those rates for any other matter than the newspaper itself, and such supplemental matter as is really 'germane' and otherwise meets the requirements of law. Upon other matter sent in the mails the publisher must pay the same rate as any other citizen."

The postmasters are directed to notify publishers that such supplements violate the law, and to say to them that, "until September 1, 1905, their publications, even though containing such inclosures, will be accepted at the regular second-class rates, and that on and after September 1, 1905, the legal rate will be charged upon such matter, according to its character."

THE ROWFANT LIBRARY FOR SALE.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have bought the entire library of the late Frederick Locker-Lampson, the English poet and Shakespearian student, which contains about one thousand volumes dating from 1480 to 1880. The collection will remain on exhibition for a month or two, and if at the end of that time it has not been sold in a lump, it will be broken up and each volume will be disposed of separately. Practically all the volumes are first editions, and nearly all are in excellent condition.

In a certain sense it seems only fair, as a writer in the New York Times pertinently points out, that the library should come to this country, as it was largely an American's money which bought it. Curtis Miranda Lampson, who was born in Vermont in 1806, went to England in 1830, and eighteen years later was naturalized as a British subject. He acquired a large fortune, and in 1866 he was made a baronet. He died in 1885, leaving one child, a daughter, who was the second wife of Frederick Locker, who afterward assumed the name of his father-in-law, and became Frederick Locker-Lampson. It was he who collected the Rowfant books, the library being named after Rowfant, Sussex, the country place of Locker-Lampson.

Locker-Lampson compiled a catalogue of the library in 1886, dividing it into three sections—English poetry and drama from 1480 to 1700, English books from 1700 to 1880, and Americana. After his death, in 1895, his son, Godfrey Locker-Lampson, compiled a supplementary catalogue of the volumes acquired since the first list was issued, and also enumerating the valuable autograph letters and albums which his father had collected. The library is a small one, but as practically all the volumes are treasures, the money value of the collection is very great.

DR. PRIME'S LIBRARY GIVEN AWAY.

Mrs. ALLIE T. SLOSSON, of New York City, has presented to the Watkinson Library, of Hartford, Conn., the famous collection of books owned by the late Dr. William C. Prime, of New York City. There are one thousand volumes in the collection, gathered by Dr. Prime while he was writing a history of early German engraving. It is the best library on the subject in the country. Dr. Prime bequeathed it at his death to Mrs. Slossen.

PALLISER EXCLUDED FROM THE MAIIS.

ACCORDING to a Washington despatch to the New York Sun, use of the mails is denied the firm of Palliser, Palliser & Co., 24 East Forty-second Street, New York, and Charles Palliser, Post Office Box 42, Deal Beach, N. J., by a fraud order issued by the Post Office Department on April 5. The report of the inspectors says that Charles Palliser, whose address is at Deal Beach, is in effect the firm of Palliser, Palliser & Co., and that he has been engaged in defrauding the public by advertising for sale books containing architectural designs, drawings, etc., of houses, schools, courthouses, etc., and then diverting to his own use any moneys received with orders and failing to send any such books to the purchasers. It is also said in the report that Palliser has been engaged in frauds of this character for some years and that he failed to make an appearance when cited to show cause why a fraud order should not issue against him. Palliser's method was to advertise through the New York firm name and then have all mail addressed to the firm forwarded to him at Deal Beach.

ENGLISH MUSIC PUBLISHERS STRIKE.

IT is reported that owing to the inability of the authorities to suppress wholesale music piracy, chiefly of popular songs, a score of London music publishing firms, including several of the leading houses, have agreed to cease publishing or advertising new compositions or entering into any contracts with composers, artists, or singers until further notice.

The object of the movement is to induce the Government to institute legislation reforming the present ineffective copyright law.

BOOKTRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE.

THE April dinner of the Booksellers' League, given at the Aldine Association, on the evening of the 12th inst., was well attended. About seventy members of the League and their guests greeted the new president, Frederick D. Lacy, who responded in a brief speech, and then introduced Thomas Gaffney Taaffe, Professor of English Literature in the College of the City of New York. Professor Taaffe chose for his subject the English drama of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, dwelling particularly on the work of Sheridan, from whose "Rivals" he read a number of selections. The professor's address and his readings were admirable and greatly appreciated by his hearers, who interrupted him with frequent applause. Captain Paul B. Malone, author of "Winning His Way to West Point" and "A Plebe at West Point," gave a stirring account of "The United States Army in the Philippines," during the invasion of the islands, which he illustrated with a stereopticon. A. Cahan, author of "The White Terror and the Red," who was also to have addressed the League, was unfortunately unable to be present.

Before dispersing, the attention of the League was called to the sad fate of Dwight Stratton, for years a member of the League and for some time one of its trustees, who has become insane. Since February he has been confined in various institutions in the hope of effecting a cure, and it is now the desire of his friends to raise funds to place him in an institution where he will receive better treatment and care than in the institution in which he is at present confined. Mrs. Stratton, upon whom the support of three children and herself depends, is unable to provide for her husband's care in such an institution, and so Mr. Dwight's friends have undertaken to relieve her of this burden. A committee was appointed to solicit subscriptions in the trade. Contributions may be sent to the treasurer of the League, E. G. Lawrence, with Edwin S. Gorham, 285 Fourth Avenue, or to Emil Heikel, P. O. Box 201, Madison Square Station, New York.

THE AMERICAN BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE Entertainment Committee having charge of the fifth annual dinner to be given by the American Booksellers' Association on the evening of May 16, under the chairmanship of Charles A. Burkhardt, report that they have secured as speakers John Kendrick Bangs, Charles Battell Loomis, Joseph C. Lincoln, all well-known names to the trade, and Henry Mayer, the caricaturist. They are also arranging to present to each guest a handsome souvenir. The other members of the committee are J. W. Nichols and Theodore Schulte, to whom, as well as to any member of the American Booksellers' Association, the Booksellers' League or the Brotherhood of American Travellers' application may be made for tickets, the price of which has been fixed at $2.50. The outlook is most promising for the largest and most successful dinner thus far given by the Association.

OBITUARY NOTES.

SARAH CHAUNCEY WOOLSEY, better known as "Susan Coolidge," died suddenly of heart disease on Sunday, April 9, at her home at Newport, R. I. Miss Woolsey was born in Cleveland, O., on January 29, 1845. She was a niece of Dr. Theodore Dwight Woolsey, president of Yale University. Her chief work was for children, although she edited and abridged "The Autobiography and Correspondence of Mrs. Delaney" and "The Diary and Letters of Frances Burney." From 1871 she has furnished a great deal of work to children's magazines and written many books that were great favorites with young people. Her best known stories are the "Katy Did Series." Other popular tales include "A Guernsey Lily," "In the High Valley," "The Barberry Bush," "For Summer Afternoons." Various volumes of charming verse must also be credited to "Susan Coolidge."

COMMUNICATIONS.

"THE PASSING OF THE BOOKSHOP."

NEW YORK, April 7, 1905.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: My attention has been called to a lengthy and decidedly pessimistic article which appeared in a daily newspaper of date of April 2, under the heading "The Passing of the New York Bookshops."

After studying the article in question, I am left with an impression very similar to one I had some time ago on learning that a certain weekly newspaper employed a maiden lady of the tender age of fifty to write the articles which appeared in its "Mother's Column."

We will take it for granted, however, that the article was written by a book merchant with a practical experience; let us see if we cannot find some fallacies herein.

"I'll wager that inside of two years there will not be a bookshop left in New York, and I wager further that there is not a man in New York to-day who is making a living selling books alone," says the writer.

I am unable to dispute the first claim, not being an expert in horoscopy; but I certainly challenge the latter, and I am in a position to positively prove the assertion erroneous.

Let us suppose, however, for the sake of argument, that the majority of the contingencies claimed have arisen. Why this "dry rot?" Being in business means to the average bookseller to open his place in the morning, to count whatever cash may have been taken in during the day, and to close his shop in the evening. Nothing new attempted to increase the business—the same old rut; and there is precious little difference between the rut and the grave, except for its length and breadth, and constant travel on one road without making any repairs is sure to wear even the ruts deep as the grave. Let us make some repairs and get right methods; they can never be other than those that handicap competitors.

There was a time in New York when Mr. Newlyrich and Mr. Gotrox willingly paid fabulous prices for supposedly rare tomes, under the assurance that what they purchased was the "only one in existence and very rare," only to be rudely awakened on their first visit to London to the fact that it could have been purchased for a shilling. "A burnt child dreads the fire." That time has passed, and no longer does he allow his credulity to influence him in making book purchases.

"The only money there is in books," says the article, "is in rare editions, or editions de luxe, and the trade in these is handled by two or three established dealers." There is a very potent sermon in the latter portion of that paragraph. I am constrained to believe that such is the fact, for the reason they have never put an inflated value on their wares irrespective of merit, merely because the prospective customer was able to pay the price; and the average "bookshop" man has been too pachymenit to discover it in time. Yes, the day of the "bookshop" is passing; for the simple reason that a long deluded public is rapidly discerning that the word "shop" as applied to the sale of books is, as a rule, with but few exceptions, synonymous with false values.

I am thoroughly acquainted with the class of stock usually handled by the dry goods and department stores in the city, having for business reasons repeatedly visited them incognito, and I am convinced that the majority of stock handled and sold by these institutions is "frenzied fiction" suited to their constituency, and I do not believe that the customer in general will ever avail himself to any extent of the privilege of asking the advice of Tottie Coughdrop, who supervises the sale of Laura Jean Libbey's works at three dollars per, regarding books of reference.

I believe that the bookstore will always be the "Mecca" of the buyer whose capital is limited, and who gauges the value of literature by its calibre, and not by its rarity. It is the man who believes that "the writings of the wise is the only legacy our posterity cannot squander" to whom we look for support, and I do not believe that the shoddy bait of a few cents' reduction in price will induce him to turn aside to those marts which for the most part cater to frivolous and fashionable femininity. If he does I will exclaim with Macbeth:

"Can such things be,
And overcome us like a summer's cloud,
Without our special wonder? You make me strange
Even to the disposition that I owe,
When now I think you can behold such sights,
And keep the natural ruby of your cheeks,
When mine is blanched with fear."

R. E. SHERWOOD.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE April issue of Coming Modes has an illustrated article on "The Story of Mrs. Piozzi and Bath," by J. F. Meehan, the junior member of the firm of export booksellers, B. & J. F. Meehan, of Bath, Eng.

AN interesting personal sketch of Sir Caspar Purdon Clarke, the recently-appointed Director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, in New York City, is contributed by John Lane to the April issue of The International Studio.

The Boston Budget and The Beacon were consolidated on April 1, and now appear as the Boston Budget and Beacon. The papers have run along similar lines since their establishment in 1879 and 1884, respectively, and their managements think that by joining editorial forces and subscription lists they may make a thoroughly up-to-date illustrated weekly, and produce a leading journal that will embody all the attractions of both the popular journals.

THE hundredth number, completing the 25th volume of the American Journal of Philology, has just appeared. For a quarter of a century its distinguished editor, Professor Gildersleeve, of Johns Hopkins University, has had no associate and every number has received his personal care. The philologists of the leading universities have not made to the Journal as many contributions as might have been expected, but it has not suffered for lack of good material, and it continues to be the one national periodical which covers the whole field of philology.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BOSTON, MASS.—The firm of DeWolfe, Fiske & Company has dissolved partnership, and a corporation will continue the business under the name of DeWolfe & Fiske Company.

CENTRALIA, Mo.—O. B. Wilson, bookseller, has been succeeded by William O. Baker.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y.—P. P. Braley & Co., booksellers, have been succeeded by P. P. Braley.

NEW YORK CITY.—Ammon & Mackel, successors to Leggat Brothers, have not changed their style to Leggat Brothers, (Ammon & Mackel, Successors,) as erroneously reported in last week's issue.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Engineering and Mining Journal has removed to the Hallenbeck Building at 505 Pearl Street.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—J. L. H. Bayne, law bookseller and publisher, has removed to the Bailey Building, 1218 Chestnut Street.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—Albert E. Davis, for forty years in the book business, has sold out his entire stock to the Shepard Company, and will rest on his laurels for a time.

TRINIDAD, COL.—F. D. Goodale, bookseller, has been succeeded by E. E. Learned.

WAYCROSS, GA.—The Waycross Bookstore has been taken over by T. S. Paine & Co.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

THE LITERARY COLLECTOR PRESS, Greenwich, Conn., has published a second edition of Oscar Wegelin's "Early American Plays, 1714-1830," the first edition of which was issued for members of the Dunlap Society only.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have just published the second volume of Professor Edward Arber's reprint of the so-called "Term Catalogues," covering the period from 1683 to 1696. A third volume will cover the period from 1697 to 1709, with a number for the Easter Term, 1711.

THE GROLIER CLUB, New York, will shortly publish the first volume of a "Catalogue of Original and Early Editions of Some of the Poetical and Prose Works of English Writers from Wither to Prior." This work, which will be complete in three volumes, was undertaken by a special committee of the club, and is the second in a series of bibliographies of English writers, the first, issued in 1893, covering the period from Langland to Wither. The present series will conform in style to the volume of 1893, and will be illustrated with artotypes and cuts in the text.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

R. F. FENNO COMPANY will publish on the 21st inst. a detective story by Fred M. White, entitled "The Crimson Blind," with illustrations.

THE AMERICAN NEWS COMPANY have added to their Library of Popular Fiction Arthur Morrison's detective story, entitled "The Red Triangle."

WILLIAM R. JENKINS has ready the 1905 revised edition of "The Complete Pocket Guide to Europe," with the usual careful up-to-date work of the Stedmans.

WALTER G. DE WITT, 201 East 12th Street, New York City, has in "Genealogical Records" published a book of blanks to aid those who are interested in their ancestral history, to keep their family records, notes and data in systematic and get-at-able condition.

H. B. CLAFLIN COMPANY will have ready May 1 "The Medal of Honor," a story of peace and war by General Charles King, who certainly had unusual opportunities for securing the most complete inside knowledge of army doings and army ways in the United States, and whose dramatic instincts always insure for his readers a vividly presented tale.

THE UNITED DICTIONARY COMPANY, Chicago, of which George W. Ogilvie is manager, will publish on May 5 "Webster's Brief International Dictionary," containing, besides the dictionary proper, a guide to pronunciation, a list of prefixes and suffixes, rules for spelling and abbreviations, and mythological, Biblical, classical and geographical proper names, with 800 illustrations.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have just ready "The Vision of Elijah Berl," by Frank Lewis Nason, an American novel dealing with the beginnings of orange growing by irrigation in California. Among books still promised for the spring are "On the Firing Line," a romance of South Africa by Anna Chapin Ray; "A Weird Picture," by John R. Carling, author of "The Shadow of the Czar;" and "A Knot of Blue," a novel of old Quebec by William R. A. Wilson.

B. HERDER, St. Louis, has just issued "The Catechist in the Infant School and in the Nursery," by Rev. Lambert Nolle; "Studies in Religion and Literature," by William Samuel Lilly; "Comfort for the Faint Hearted," by L. Blosius; "The Child's Bible History," by F. J. Knecht; "The Friendships of Jesus," by F. J. Ollivier; "Socialism; Its Economic Aspect," by William Poland; and "History of the German People at Close of the Middle Ages," by Johannes Janssen.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY have in press a volume by the well-known correspondent, William Elery Curtis, entitled "Modern India." The book is made up of the edited letters that Mr. Curtis sent to American papers while on a tour through the East, from which he has just returned. They will publish shortly "Loyalty, the Soul of Religion," by James G. K. McClure, ex-president of Lake Forest College, who is known as the author of many books of secular and religious advice to young men that have always commanded attention.

G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY are about to bring out "Get Next," by John Henry; "The Abandoned Farm," a new novel by Mary J. Holmes; "The Silly Syclopedia," by Noah Lott; "Tucker Dan," the story of a mischief maker by Charles Ross Jackson; "The Secret Passage," a detective story by Fergus Hume; "On the Hog Train," a humorous monologue; "The Up Side Downs of Little Lady Lovelock and Old Man Muffaroo," by Gustave Verbeck; and a new issue of Marietta Holley's "Around the World with Josiah Allen's Wife."

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY will issue during the month a clever satire on automobileists, "Charles the Chauffeur," by S. E. Kiser, who depicts an intrepid ignorant maneuverer of an automobile, the pride of a rich widowed employer. The illustrations add greatly to the book, which is good fun with possibly a serious motive. "The Garden of Allah," R. S. Hichens's very clever story of the desert, has reached its fourth large edition; and the well-known ability of Grace Peckham Murray will insure great interest in her new book on hygiene, entitled "The Fountain of Youth," made up of papers that have appeared in The Delineator.

THE AMERICAN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION, Boston, issue to-day "Anchors of the Soul," a volume of sermons by the late Brooke Herford, who selected nearly all of them for publication some time before his death. Rev. Philip H. Wicksteed has furnished a biographical sketch as an introduction to the volume. In connection with the centenary of the birth of James Martineau, which comes on the 21st of this month, this house has also just issued a volume of selections from Martineau's writings, entitled "Tides of the Spirit," which has been edited by the Rev. Albert Lazenby, who was a pupil of Martineau in the college with which he was so long associated.

D. VAN NOSTRAND COMPANY have among their forthcoming books "Quaternions," by A. L. Baker; Bauer's "Marine Engines and Boilers"; "Marine Boilers," by L. E. Bertha, dealing especially with tubulous boilers; "Brief Course in the Calculus," by Professor William Cain; "Course of Graphic Statics Applied to Mechanical Engineering," by J. I. Chaffee; "Machine Elements: Shrinkage and Pressure Joints," by Professor William L. Cathcart; "Interpretation of Water Analysis," by J. W. Hill; "Statically Indeterminate Stresses," by Professor I. Hiroi; "Current Practice in Gas Engine Design," by H. L. Koenig; and "American Soaps, Candles and Glycerine," by L. L. Lamborn.

FISCHER'S FOREIGN LETTERS, Inc., have in press the second edition of "Private Lives of William II." which will be in three volumes and illustrated. William Heinemann, London, has already disposed of six editions of this much-discussed book, and an Australian edition has just been issued. The Librairie Universelle, Paris, has issued two French editions since February. Joseph R. Vilimek, Prag, is about to issue a Bohemian edition, Peter Hansen, Copenhagen, has contracted for the Danish edition, and Bjorck & Borjesen, Stockholm, for the Swedish rights, while the "Vita" Deutsches Verlagshaus, Berlin, is about to issue a German version. Translations in Dutch, Italian and Spanish are also contemplated.

PAUL ELDER & Co., San Francisco, have just about ready "Impressions of Ukiyo-Ye," the school of Japanese print artists, illustrated with reproductions of typical prints from color tint blocks. The text is by Dora Amsden. Under the title of "Blue Monday Book," a compilation by Jennie Day Haines of optimistic quotations will be issued; and under the collective title of "Bible Mosaics" Agnes Greene Foster has compiled four little volumes under the separate titles "Promises," "Commands," "Admonitions," "Answers." The house further announces several new series of leaflets; and "Good Things and Graces," by Isabel Goodhue, consisting of little ethical recipes for agreeable moral concoctions, with decorations by Spencer Wright.

D. APPLETON & Co. announce for publication in May "The Wine Press," by Anna Robeson Brown, a novel of disillusionment, in which the heroine loses faith in men through her father's conduct, and faith in women through her half sister's misdemeanors; and the long delayed volume, "Tuskegee and Its People," prepared by the officers and former students of the Normal and Industrial Institute at Tuskegee, Ala., under the editorial direction of Booker T. Washington. The volume, of course, covers the point of view of the intelligent negro on negro education. It is interesting to know that Henderson and Woodhull's "Elements of Physics," in the Appleton's Twentieth Century Textbooks, has been translated into Chinese and adopted in many Chinese schools and colleges.

HENRY HOLT & Co. will issue at once "Die Prärie am Jacinto," by Charles Sealsfield, a story of Texas when Sam Houston was making things lively, written somewhat in the style of James Fenimore Cooper, and furnished with editorial matter by Professor A. D. Nichols. The writer's real name was Karl Postl, a fugitive from the church in Austria to America some seventy years ago. Startling as the news will appear to those who know only the "realism" and outspokenness of Zola, this house is bringing out for use in the classroom a volume of selections from his writings, prepared by Professor Arthur Guyot Cameron, of Princeton University, who opens his careful work with the spirited war story, "L' Attaque du Moulin." Zola's authorization for this book had been obtained at the time of his death.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will publish in May "The Walking Delegate," by Leroy Scott, a settlement worker on the East Side in New York City, who for many years carefully studied labor unions and has invented a hero of the

"Sam" Parks type, but of greater intelligence and more subtle in his methods; "Follow Through," a golf novel by Frederick Upham Adams, with illustrations by A. B. Frost; "The Indifference of Juliet," by Grace S. Richmond, which during its serial publication so pleased its readers that its author has already written two sequels to satisfy the interest in her heroine; and a book of essays by Thomas Dixon, Jr., to be called "Is Life Worth Living," directly chiefly against the growing horrors of city life. A timely volume will be a volume of Hans Christian Andersen, entitled "Fairy Tales Every Child Should Know," edited with introduction by Hamilton Mabie and decorations by B. Ostertag, which is promised shortly.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY announce the publication of the French Men of Letters series, of which volume I, devoted to "Montaigne," by Edward Dowden, is just ready, with the complete bibliography and full index that are to be features of the series. Among the authors to be written up by men of first rank are Villon, De Vigny, Rousseau, Sand, Gautier, Rabelais, Daudet, Mérimée, Lamartine, Musset, Flaubert, Balzac, Hugo, Molière, Voltaire, Dumas and Maupassant. They have reduced the price on the new edition of "The Exterior of the Horse," by Armand Goubaux and Gustave Barrier, to $3 net, and have increased the price on vol II. of "Applied Mechanics," by Andrew Jamieson, to $3.50 net. They are publishing this week the third edition of "How to Cook for the Sick and Convalescent," by Helena V. Sachse, a collection of recipes intended especially for those who have to prepare food for the sick room, for invalids, or for those who may desire a diet. The recipes are all clearly written and the work has received the commendation of many physicians as well as hospitals. A notable addition to the present edition of this work is a chapter it gives on cases of diabetes.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trades subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five non-parole lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amounts should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

IN ANSWERING, PLEASE STATE EDITION, CONDITION, AND PRICE, INCLUDING POSTAGE OR EXPRESS CHARGES.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

A Guest Book

This is the season of the year to sell guest books. The enterprising dealer is keeping track of people who are moving to new homes and suggesting, with profit to himself, that they buy a guest book.

We believe that

designed by Seymour, the well-known art printer, with choice quotations on Friendship, is the most beautiful book of its kind on the market. As a wedding gift nothing could be more appropriate. As a record of visitors to a new home what better gift could be suggested?

The Mortgage on the Brain

By VINCENT HARPER

A NOVEL of startling suggestiveness. The principal characters are: the charming Viscountess Torbeth, who is the possessor of two absolutely distinct and diametrically opposed personalities; her husband, Lord Torbeth, who sees in her case, as he thinks, symptoms of insanity; and Dr. Ethelbert Croft, to whose care the Viscountess is committed for cure. The astounding developments that follow in Paris open a new vista in psychological fiction; for the whole question of moral responsibility and individuality takes on a new aspect. Illustrated by Macauley. $1.50

A GREAT NOVEL

“As popular as Dickens; as profound as Tolstoy.”

JÖRN UHL

By GUSTAVE FRENSSEN

Translated for the first time into English by
F. S. Delmer.

Over 200,000 copies of the German edition have been sold, and successful editions have already been issued in all the leading European languages.

This romance has been called “the greatest German novel.” It has taken Europe by storm, from the prince to the peasant. The critics are unanimous in its praise. The author is placed by distinguished authorities in the class with Goethe, and they have no hesitation in pronouncing his book “epoch-making” and

THE AMERICAN CATALOG 1900-1905

The American Catalogue, issued heretofore in quarto volumes, will be succeeded by the new American Catalog in octavo size, of which the first volume covering the five years, January, 1900, to January 1, 1905, is now in active preparation. It will be continued by a corresponding publication every five years hereafter.

It will be a final cumulation of the titles given in the Publishers' Weekly system of record by author, title, subject and series entries, including titles issued during those years but not entered in the year of publication. Under this system author entries are designated by full-face type, title entries by ordinary Roman lower-case, subject entries by small caps, and series entries by italics, so that the system has the advantages of the dictionary catalog with the advantages of distinctive author, title, subject, and series alphabets. Each entry gives author's name with initials, title, date of publication, series name, size, price, and publisher. Thus the leading facts regarding the book are put immediately at the service of the seeker. The volume will also contain the names and addresses of publishers with abbreviations used, making an up-to-date directory of several thousand names.

This volume takes the place this year of the "Annual American Catalog" which will be resumed in 1906.

If demand should justify, and not otherwise, it is proposed to complement this Five-year Catalog with a second or supplementary volume, including the full-title entries with annotations given in the Weekly Record of the Publishers' Weekly, cumulated into an alphabet for each year, i. e., into five alphabets. This is planned to answer the demand of such libraries, book-dealers, and others as have expressed a wish to have the full material of the Publishers' Weekly bibliographical system in available shape. For this supplementary volume the linotype material from the Publishers' Weekly original records has been kept; but in case there is not sufficient demand to justify the re-editing and reprinting of this material, the volume will not be issued.

Both volumes will be substantially bound in half morocco, similar to the old American Catalog. The price will be $10 for the two together, or $6 for either separately. Intending subscribers are especially requested to send in orders promptly, stating whether both volumes are desired or only the first.

The first volume will be ready late in the Spring, and the second volume, if demanded, later in the year. The edition will in both cases be limited to the indicated demand.

A SOLUTION OF THE QUESTION.

“Summer Bookselling.”

While to most people summer means a season of recreation or loafing, to the bookseller it means increased activity and watchfulness to maintain the continuity of business and to bridge over until the fall season brings relief. If ever the book business requires a thorough knowledge on the part of the principal and his clerks of the character of their constituency, their movements and their likes and their needs, it is in the season during which the traveller, away from home and from the source of supplies, is most dependent upon those who serve him—whether with the necessities or the luxuries of life.

One of the most important aids in pushing business during the "dull" season is a tempting catalogue of books suitable for shore and mountain reading, such as is prepared by this office in "SUMMER READING." It is prepared with the view of bringing to the special attention of summer visitors the classes of books in which they are most likely to be interested, and of giving attractive foretastes of the delights stored in them.

"SUMMER READING" will be ready June 1st, for the twenty-eighth year, and may therefore be looked upon as a regular feature of the trade. With a new and attractive cover, bearing the special imprint of the dealer, it is adapted for circulation all through the summer, and that, too, at a price which will enable the bookseller with even the most restricted income to make at least a trial of securing trade through its means. The terms for editions with imprint are as follows:

Orders for imprint editions should be sent at once, as the edition is limited to the number of copies ordered in advance.

Me and Lawson

BY

ILLUSTRATIONS BY

W. W. DENSLAW.

A Live Wire Story for clever people who do ALL their sleeping AT NIGHT.

"HUMPTY" Hotfoot, a Western Union Messenger Boy, who attracts the attention of Boston's Frenzied "SYSTEM" Stinger, and is engaged by him to run wireless errands, tells the story.

Humpty, in the bias and vernacular of his kind, gives a ludicrous, but logical account of Lawson's "run in" with "Scrambled Oil," "Frenzied Copper," and "Amalgamated Gas."

He describes the incubation of a grand "short" movement in stocks in Lawson's office, and its unexpected failure.

"Me and Lawson" is a spontaneous bit of unaffected humor, creating a new character in the realm of fiction.

FROM THE WEST TO THE WEST

Across the Plains to Oregon

By ABIGAIL S. DUNIWAY

THE characters are of the distinctive class of Western emigrant of fifty years ago, resourceful, independent, and progressive, and in their conversation and experiences give a vivid account of a phase of American social life that has passed, as well as foreshadowing the active and productive period that was to follow. Though a faithful account of an actual journey, the book is in the form of fiction, and brings the course of several romances to a successful end.

LETTERS FROM AN OREGON RANCH

THE hours of delight, as well as those of trial, which fall to the lot of "Katherine" in creating a home out of the raw materials of nature, are chronicled with naive humor, and in a vein of hearty optimism which will make a universal appeal. This year the eyes of the entire country will be on Oregon, and it is expected that a book of this kind, giving such an illuminating idea of the country, will be of great interest. The 12 photographs which illustrate the volume are of remarkable beauty.

THE YELLOW WAR

By "O"

The Soldier's Story of the Russo-Jap Conflict

A marvelous book showing the personal side of the Russo-Jap conflict, and picturing in vivid style a new war impression, the awful mechanical bleakness of a great scientific fight. While reading the book you are side by side with the Russian and Japanese soldiers in the trenches—you sweep with them up the hillsides through a leaden hail, you sit by their campfires, you ride with the outposts, or, with a change of scene, tread the deck of a cruiser or torpedo boat of the once great fleet before Port Arthur. These sketches were the literary sensation of the season in London, and bid fair to have a similar success here.

"Of the numerous books which the conflict in the Far East has called forth, none stirs the emotions so profoundly as the volume of sketches from the pen of an extremely skilful and effective writer who signs himself "O". The stories are overpowering in their vivid presentation of the methods of modern warfare." N. Y. Globe.
